

So why wait?

Our CPD qualifying modules should be looked at as re-training. If you're good, then prove it and earn CPD hours; if you want to verify to what standard you currently work to, then pit your wits against our training modules - if your answers are similar and you understand all aspects of the case-study then you are on-track for future success (perhaps with SAVA or as a Government Home Inspector).

Accreditation is here, RICS Practice Certificates" are closing in and the Government Home Condition Inspector regime is ready to go. Make sure you have reached, can reach or can aspire to the highest professional surveying standards.

Home Inspector

Anybody aspiring to become a Home Inspector will need to prove they can reach certain benchmarked standards. These codify current "good practice" and encourage "best performance". The traditional way to undertake this was to subscribe to a course on a fixed date, away from your usual work area guaranteeing that as the date for the course approaches so your diary will fill with inspections! PROinspect is proud to bring you the new alternative - Training On-line.

Who is it for?

This comprehensive range of training modules will be built up over several months to help you towards understanding and achieving industry benchmarks. To help educate and motivate student Surveyors, qualified Surveyors or any other party (e.g. anybody interested in becoming a Government Home Inspector for Pre-Sale Condition Reports). Some modules may only take 15 minutes to complete, others perhaps 60 minutes, or more (whatever suits you). All this time qualifies for RICS C.P.D. so you discharge both SAVA and RICS duties for continued structured learning.

Start Immediately

Our modules are designed to replace traditional training methods and provide a more insightful and useful method to achieve the training necessary to take the Accreditation exam with SAVA or another H.I external body. You can start the course immediately! It starts with an introduction to its content and the particular areas covered, and at the end of some modules, have a test!

Joining up is instant and easy!

It is Fun and Interactive

Using the power of the Internet and interactive software we not only make the modules informative but fun and interesting to complete. The pages are easy to navigate, and many provide interactive zoom in and out and property walk around!
