How do I get onto the information highway?

While the media expounds the benefits of technology and how it is revolutionising the office, you have a business to run. But you do not want to miss out!

You may know there are tools that can help, but have neither the time nor the large amounts of spare cash that it seems are necessary to get on the technological road.

Here is the good news, there is someone that can help you and it need not cost you a fortune..... Small Scale Solutions.

You may have invested already in a computer - is this working for you as hard as it can, or do you use it to occasionally type a few letters?

Small Scale Solutions will get you up to speed and onto the information highway efficiently and economically.

Before you make any major technical investment, start on a small scale and build up. Further development can then be properly evaluated and a more educated strategy formulated.

Small Scale Solutions - you are in safe hands

The World Wide Web

It is out there and cannot be ignored, the Internet brings your desktop to an international marketplace competing in the same screen area as the biggest multinationals. But do not get caught in the hype, there are only a few examples of massively successful commercial web sales sites, the whole concept is still extremely new. Small Scale Solutions will help you properly evaluate your needs and requirements. Do you want to sell on the web? Build your client loyalty? Spread your company's image? Provide a communication conduit or a combination of these? Small Scale Solutions will ensure that you do not make the common mistake of ignoring the interaction within the office of your website, but will ensure that the system is developed as a whole.

Web design and hosting

Small Scale Solutions is not just another web design company. With over 5 years experience in both the technological and design aspects of web sites, and the strategy to build partnerships with our customers, we bring you more. We will visit you (or you can pop-in) and discuss your requirements in full, making sure you understand the web and identify what it can do for you. Next, we will produce a comprehensive quotation establishing your web policy, considerations and some design ideas. Finally, Small Scale Solutions will register your domain name and host your site, making it available to a potential 305 million customers. What does this cost you? Well rather than any major outgoings, we charge a monthly fee which covers the hosting and the design and allows you to add or remove design components as you need. With Small Scale Solutions - you are in safe hands!

Services Include:

- Web Design
- Web Hosting

Rather than make a list of what Small Scale Solutions does, consider us like your virtual IT department.

If your need a web site designed and hosted, advice on purchasing/installing new technology, problems with your existing systems or a technology roadmap to assist with budgeting then call on us for a one off or monthly fee.

And, if you want to 'get up to speed' with any part of computing we can offer one-to-one or one-to-many training and a help-desk.
